ELECTION SURVEY 1965.

TO INTERVIEWER: SAY APPROXIMATELY THE FOLLOWING:

My name is I am from the Norwegian Gallup Institute. I have come about a survey we are doing in connection with the Storting election this autumn. Have you received a letter from our institute and from the Institute for Social Research about this survey?

- 1 YES
- 2 NO

(IF "YES"):

I would like your permission to ask you a few questions. I would like to emphasize that we interviewers and everyone who later deals with the information, are pledged to silence. Your name will not be made known in any of the material about the survey which is published and no one will be able to find out what you have answered.

(IF "NO"):

The survey is being done by the Institute for Social Research and Chr. Michelsen's Institute, scientific institutions which have on their committee and staff a number of lecturers at the Universities of Oslo and Bergen. We are collecting information about people's living conditions in different parts of the country and we are asking what they think about the conditions in this country now just before the Storting election.

To get a good cross-section of the population, we have drawn names from the census lists in 41 of the country's communes. YOU are one of those drawn here in ... (COMMUNE'S NAME). I would like, therefore, to ask you some questions. I would emphasize that we interviewers and everyone who later deals with the information, are pledged to silence. Your name will not be made known in any of the material about the survey which is published, and no one will be able to find out what you personally have answered. The information you can give is put together with information from 2000 other people from all over Norway and presented in the form of tables and summaries which do not mention the individual person who was interviewed.

Now we would like to hear if there are any matters on which you think the Storting and the Government should make a decision during the coming 4 years period? It is your personal opinion we are interested in. First, can you mention one important matter YOU think should be taken up when the new Storting convenes after the election?

32 I shall now read aloud to you some things people often say when they talk about politics. For each statement I would like you to say whether you agree or disagree.

(TO INTERVIEWER: NOTE ANSWER ALSO IF R. CANNOT MAKE UP HIS MIND)

1 AGREE 2 DISAGREE

32a We ordinary people may well vote but beyond that we have no possibility of influencing what the authorities do.

1 2

32b Election campaigns create so much unnecessary bitterness that there is reason to ask whether they do not create more harm than good.

1 2

32c It would be much better if people stopped talking about the oppositions among the parties but rather stressed all they agree on.

1 2

32d Political parties are indispensable - they perform a useful and absolutely necessary task in society.

1 2

32e You can't expect the ordinary people to go to all the trouble to acquire knowledge about public and governmental affairs - that is what we have politicians for.

1 2

32f People should keep their political opinions to themselves - it only makes for difficulties if you let everyone know where you stand.

1 2

32g You can easily understand why people often keep off politics - there is too much personal struggle for power and so many intrigues in political life.

1 2

32h Political parties are so busy winning new voters that they easily lose sight of their real goals.

1 2

32i Regardless of which party wins the election, the interests of the people in this part of the country will get far too little consideration.

1 2

32j Politicians deserve higher salaries and recognition than most people, because of the difficult, important and time consuming work they do.
